

Index

- a priori knowledge, 111–15; and Benacerraf problem, 123–7
- abortion, 46, 47, 125, 129, 138–9, 142–3, 145, 213
- Abraham, 261n18
- Abraham, Leo, 281n27
- abstract objects, 124–5, 210
- abstractness, as cause of error, 139
- accidentalness, 123
- accosting, 258n28
- Adams, Robert, 57, 59, 255n5, 261n12, 261n16, 261n19
- addiction, 189
- adequate grasp, 125–6
- adultery, 21–2, 55
- aesthetic realism, 211
- affirmative action, 129
- agreement, in ethics, 130–1. See also disagreement
- Agrippina, 21, 226
- alcoholism, 243
- algorithms, 137, 209
- Alston, William, 268n18, 268n20
- altruism, 214, 218, 250
- ambiguity, test for, 37
- analytic truths, 125, 112–13, 206, 269n32
- analytic reductionism, see reductionism
- anomalous monism, 252
- Anscombe, G. E. M., 276n17
- anthropology, disagreements in, 135, 136
- anti-realism, defined, 4; difficulty of explaining moral disagreement, 148–9; inconsistent attitudes towards, xxii–xxiv; insincere, xxiii; metaphysical, 12–13; and moral methodology, 152–4; nihilism most forthright form of, 249; popularity of, xxii; three forms of, 4–5; undermines morality, 192–6, 248–50; about weirdness, 200–1. See also subjectivism; non-cognitivism; nihilism
- appearances, 99–101, 232; initial, 101–2; intellectual, 100–1; logical, 101
- appetites, 161–2
- appropriateness of desires, 178, 182, 235
- approval, and moral belief, 49–50
- arbitrariness, and divine command theory, 60, 227; and ideal observer theory, 63; and relativism, 52, 227; and Rossian intuitionism, 250–2; and subjectivism, 50, 64, 213, 227; of morality on Humean view, 187–8, 234
- Arens, William, 135
- argument from disagreement, see disagreement
- argument from interpretation, 159–61
- arguments, assessing strength of, 116
- Armstrong, David, 256n1, 271n53, 271n54
- assertions, marks of, 20–1, 225–6; Timmons' view of, 40
- assertoric non-descriptivism, 39–44; differentiated from moral realism, 42–4; as differing only verbally from non-cognitivism, 40
- astrology, 135
- Audi, Robert, 267n12, 268n18, 271n55

- Austin, J. L., 257n11, 276n17 authority, misplaced trust in, 139 authority of morality, 184–7, 190, 233; and Humean view, 187–8 authority of prudence, 185–7, 190, 233
 awareness, 255n3, 270n47
 Ayer, A. J., 19, 143, 267n5
 Aztecs, 129
- Bealer, George, 266n47, 267n4, 268n29, 271n55
 beauty, 211
 begging the question, 69–70, 116
 belief/desire gap, 156
 belief, as aiming at truth, 137; applied to evaluative claims, 20, 37; and direction of fit, 168–9; Timmons' view of, 40. See also value judgments
 Benacerraf, Paul, 123–7, 271n50, 272n60
 Berkeley, George, 39, 44, 132 bias, 63–4, 105, 132, 137–8, 140–1, 144–5, 146, 218–9, 220, 232, 238–9, 246; concept of presupposes realism, 151, 274n35; as decisive cause of philosophical beliefs, 247–8; and evolution, 215, 219
 Bible, 55–6, 141
 Blackburn, Simon, 34–8, 206–7, 257n9, 258n28, 272n1
 Bonjour, Laurence, 264n16, 266n1, 268n21, 268n29, 269n31, 270n39, 273n21, 283n4
 Borowski, E. J., 264n22
 Boyd, Richard, 265n30
 brains in vats, 252
 Brandt, Richard, 62, 261n22, 262n28, 272n1, 273n7
 Brighthouse, M. H., 257n13
 Brink, David, 273n20
 buck-passing account of value, 183–4, 262n2
 Butchvarov, Panayot, 279n55
 Butler, Joseph, 276n12
- cannibalism, 129
 capital punishment, 129
 Caplan, Bryan, 282n31
 caricature of intuitionism, 133, 237
 Carson, Thomas, 261n12, 261n21 causal dependence, contrasted with constitutive dependence, 3 causal theory of knowledge, 122–3 causal argument for moral explanation, 88–90 causation, between moral and non-moral properties, 122; as requiring change, 122
ceteris paribus clause, 105, 203 charity, principle of, 159–61
 checking moral beliefs, 108–9
 chess, 205, 216, 280n17
 Chisholm, Roderick, 269n35, 269n37
 Christianity, 242
 cinnamon ice cream, 21
 circularity, 113
 clarity, of concepts, 125
 Clarke, Samuel, 133–4, 273n10
 Clinton, 21–2
 cognitive statements, marks of, 20–1, 225–6
 cognitivism, 17. See also non-cognitivism coherence theory of justification, 107–8 coherence, of beliefs, 178; of desires, 172, 176–9, 182–3, 235
 colocation, 138, 166
 colors, as subjective, 3–4; defining, 112–13; incompatible 111–13; reductionist account of, 66–7 Columbus, Christopher, 242
 common moral beliefs, reliability of, 91–2, 93, 219–23 complexity, as cause of error, 139 concepts, and intuitions, 94–5, 266n47
 conceptual analysis, 71
 conditional commands, 257n13
 conditional propositions, see if-then statements

conformity, 247
 confusion, 138
 consistency, of concepts, 125; of desires, 172, 176–9, 182, 235
 constitutive dependence, 3 content vs. goal of a mental state, 169–70 conventional facts, 114
 conventions, and logic, 113–15; actions violating, 153
 coolness, 211, 214
 cooperation, 217–19
 counter-balancing vs. neutralizing of reasons, 204
 counter-intuitiveness, 200
 counterfactuals, and analysis of knowledge, 123; and explanation, 88–90
 creationism, 132, 141
 critical thinking, 137
 cultural relativism, xxiii, 4, 27–8, 43, 51, 227; analytic, 72; and disagreement, 51, 53–4, 227; and Nazis, 51–2 culture, as source of bias, 141, 144–5 customs, actions violating, 153–4 cynicism, 242–3

 Dancy, Jonathan, 280n11, 280n12, 280n15
 Davidson, Donald, 252, 275n7
 debunking, 242–3
 definitions, 71, 125, 201, 209; of colors, 112–13; philosophers' conception of, 271n57 deliberation constraint, 172–3, 179–81
 deontological ethics, 129
 DePaul, Michael, 269n36, 269n37
 dependence, see supervenience
 descriptive statements, Timmons' view of, 39. See also assertions, marks of desire-satisfaction, and happiness, 178 desire, 234, 277n33; as any motivation, 165, 276n13; as appetite or emotion, 165–6; appropriateness of, 178, 182, 235; conflicting with judgments, 190; and direction of fit, 168–9, 176–7; hard to satisfy, 178; incommensurability with beliefs, 191; kinds of, 161–2; and morality, 187; objects of, 162–3; phenomenological conception of, 276n14; and qualia, 276n14; as required for practical reasons, 156–7; second-order, 178, 187–8; strength of, 190. See also Humean conception of reasons determinacy, of concepts, 125

 determinacy assumption, 80
 determinism, 190
 direct realism, 121–2, 232, 236–7; compatible with fallibility, 122 direction of fit, 168–9, 276n21 disagreement, argument from as self-refuting, 146–8; about controversial moral questions, 142; explaining, 132–3, 147, 237–8; about foundational moral claims, 142–4; and objectivity, 131–2; as problem for all metaethical theories, 146–7; as problem for anti-realism, 148–54; as problem for divine command theory, 57, 227; as problem for ideal observer theory, 63; as problem for intuitionism, 11, 237–9; 11, 128; as problem for relativism, 51, 53–4, 227; as problem for subjectivism, 50, 64, 213, 227; in philosophy, 141; predictability of, 140–1; prevalence of moral, 129–30, 237; prevalence of non-moral, 134–7, 237; and reliability of intuitions, 105, 134; resolving, 141–6, 147, 238–9 disagreements, hypothetical, 142 dishonesty, not problem for intuitionism, 110

disjunctions, Blackburn's theory of, 35, 36
 disjunctive universals, 271n58
 disjunctive property, identified with goodness, 93 dispositions, and conditionals, 34–6; and predictions about behavior, 35–6 dissimilarity of evaluative and natural properties, 94–5, 200 divine command theory, 4, 54, 227; analytic reductionist form of, 71; and arbitrariness of God's commands, 60; and disagreement, 57; as form of subjectivism, 54–5; and ground for obligation to obey God, 57–60; and loving God, 57; and problem of evil commands, 56–7; and problem of moral knowledge, 56
 dogmatism, 106, 236
 Doherty, Brian, 282n31
 Dostoyevsky, Fyodor, 54
 double standards, 136, 143–4, 236, 238–9, 241
 Dreier, James, 258n28, 259n37, 259n43
 dualism, 7–8, 183

 economics, disagreements about, 135, 136
 egalitarianism, 243
 egoism, ethical, 129, 186, 217–8; psychological, 163, 249
 electrolysis, 266n41
 eliminativism, 7–8
 emotions, 151, 161–2, 187, 226, 234; associated with moral judgments, 45–6; inadequate source of moral motivation, 193
 emotivism, 17
 empiricism, 111–15, 117, 245
 epistemic circularity, 113 epistemological questions, 1 error, causes of, 137–9, 237–8. See also moral fallibility ESP, 135

ethical intuitionism, see intuitionism ethical naturalism, see naturalism ethical intuition, see intuition ethical reductionism, see reductionism ethics, 1–254
 evaluative statements, 1, 2, 255n1; Karmo's definition of, 77–8, 79–80; as reasons for action, 196
 evaluative facts, and practical rationality, 181–4, 234–5 Everclear, 57
 evil, 243
 evolution, 132. See also evolutionary psychology evolutionary psychology, 214–19, 242
 examples, ability to see stars, 216; adultery, 194–5; Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, 94, 229; Big Foot, 104; bribery 164–5; Brzezinski 174; burning neighbor in effigy, 259n41; candy-stealing, 30, 32–3; cat-burning, 203; chaos theory, 125, 138; cigarettes, 31–2; cinnamon ice cream, 21; chess, 205, 216, 280n17; circus/trapeze artist, 179–80; cleaning toilet with flag, 222; desire that two equal three, 177; dogs/chairs, 221; electrolysis, 89–90, 93–4; Eskimos, 129; female circumcision, xxiii; funny stick, 212–13; horse race, 64, 228; Iraq war, xxii, 26–7; JFK, 45, 134, 135–6, 142, 143, 237; logical properties and supervenience, 208–9; mathobiology, 282n36; Nero, 226; Newtonian physics, 203–4; numbers cannot be true or false, 168; Odysseus and the Sirens, 173–4, 181–2, 234–5; organ harvesting, 103–4, 217, 232, 252; Oxfam/world hunger, 159, 172, 176, 178, 182, 194, 279n33; partying student,

- 164–5, 172, 175, 181–2, 188, 234–5; perverse naturalist, 229–30, 93; philosophical joke, 212; Pol Pot, 202; sadistic pleasure, 204; scratching of Hume's finger, 171; selling children into slavery, 163; shopper/detective, 168; square peg/round hole, 92–3; statue/clay, 166; Sunflower/socialist student, 174; surgery, 175–6, 182; table, 280n6; train, 167; trolley car, 103–4, 217, 252; urge to jump off building, 198; voice recognition, 251; water/ $H_2O$ , 229; weak-willed smoker, 189; witches, 222
- existence, 124
- experience machine, 275n11
- explanation, 88–90; and unification, 92–3
- eyewitness reliability, 110, 143, 273n22
- facts, Timmons' view of, 40
- factual-normative worlds, 30–4
- fairness, 218
- faith, 267n3
- fallacies, 139
- fallacy of subjectivism, 63–5, 227–8
- fallibility, see moral fallibility
- falsifiability, 217–18
- Firth, Roderick, 261n23
- Foley, Richard, 268n21, 277n31
- foresight constraint, 172, 173–5, 181–2, 234–5
- forgetfulness, 139
- foundational moral claims, disagreement about, 142–4
- foundationalism, 120–1, 143, 145–6
- foundherentism, 273n21
- Frankena, William, 275n4
- free will, 188–90, 234
- Freeman, Derek, 135
- Frege, Gottlob, 21, 257n12
- Frege-Geach problem, 21–3; and Blackburn's theory, 34; and Gibbard's theory, 32–4
- Freudians, 242
- Friedman, David, 282n41
- Fumerton, Richard, 255n4, 264n16, 267n5, 268n21, 278n43, 279n57, 281n26
- fundamental values response (on behalf of relativism), 53–4
- funniness, subjectivity of, 2–3 211–14, 255n5; world's funniest joke, 282n32
- G. E. Moore shift, 115–17
- Gay, Robert, 280n11
- Geach, Peter, 21, 76–8, 257n12, 258n22
- general intuitions, undermined by counter-examples, 166–7
- general relativity, 11–12
- geometry, 118
- Gettier example, 69–70, 263n9, 263n11
- Gibbard, Allan, 30–4, 257n6, 257n6, 258n25, 277n25
- Glassen, Peter, 257n10
- goals, 169–70, 276n22
- God, desires about, 177, 182; difficulty of knowing His will, 55–6; disagreement about, 135; existence of, 45, 55, 65; goodness of, 59; infallibility of, 57; medieval glorification of, 245; and morality, 54; morally neutral properties of, 58–9; morally significant properties of, 58–9; problem of knowing his will, 65
- Gödel's Theorem, 209, 281n25
- golden rule, 217
- Goldhagen, Daniel, 260n5
- Goldman, Alvin, 271n50
- 'good', learning meaning of, 209–10
- good-making features, 207
- goodness, properties of, 201; indefinability of, 201, 67–72; unobservability of, 85–7, 209–10
- grasp, of concepts, 229; of universals, 125–6

group interests, as source of bias, 140

gun control, 138

Haack, Susan, 273n21

Haidt, Jonathan, 255n2, 282n42, 283n44, 283n49

happiness, and desire-satisfaction, 178

Hare, R. M., 25–30, 255n5, 256n3, 257n17, 258n19, 258n28, 272n4, 281n29

Harman, Gilbert, 85–6, 261n10, 262n29, 265n33, 265n35, 270n46, 272n1

hasty judgments, 138

hedonism, 129

history, disagreements about, 136

Hitler, 88–91, 229–30

Holocaust, 260n5

homosexuality, 55, 61, 218, 282n42

hope, 20; applied to evaluative claims, 38

Horgan, Terence, 265n29

horrible attitudes, problem of, 50, 51, 62, 64, 212–13, 227

Hubin, D. Clayton, 275n11

human sacrifice, 129–30

Hume, David, 72–4, 167–8, 171, 187, 255n4, 268n23

Humean conception of reasons, 10–11, 156, 233–5; and argument against realism, 156–7; and arbitrariness of morality, 187–8, 234; and collapse of concept of practical rationality, 171–81, 234–5; and determinism, 190; Hume's argument for, 167–8; intuitive appeal of, 166–7, 235; and reason for satisfying desires, 197–8; Smith's argument for, 168–71; trivialization of, 165; and weakness of will, 189–90, 234

Hume's Law, see is-ought gap

Hurka, Thomas, 264n22

ideal observer, 60–2

ideal observer theory, 60–3; as form of subjectivism, 60; and open question argument, 68–9; relativist version of, 62

idiot's veto, 131–2, 146

if-then statements, 21, 30–1, 257n13, 260n7; dispositional theory of, 34–6; not combinations of simpler statements, 32–4; second-order approval theory of, 36–7

illness, beliefs about, 135, 141

illusion, 100

imagination constraint, 172, 175–6, 182

impartial reasons, 162, 163–5

inarticulate evidence, 139

incest, 217, 220, 283n44

incommensurability of desires and beliefs, 191, 234

inconsistency, harm of, 176

incredulous stares, 11

infallibility, see moral fallibility

infanticide, 129, 145

inference to the best explanation, 88–94

infinite regress, 180

infinitesimals, 278n45

initial plausibility, 116

insincerity, not problem for intuitionism, 110

intellectual fashions, 241

intellectuals, 247

interpretation, 159–61

intrinsic motivation, 115–16

intrinsic difficulty, cause of error, 139

introspective evidence for cognitivism, 44–7 intuition, 6, 10, 101–2, 232; checking of, 108–9; and concepts, 94–5, 266n47; evidential conception of, 270n44, 120–1; examples, 100, 102, 111–13, 231–2; distinguished from belief, 103–4, 232–3; fallibility of, 126,

- 267n12; as function of reason, 215–16; infallibility of, 272n7; linguistic, 71; logical, 113–14; naturalists' rejection of, 67; queerness of, 110–11; reasoning dependent on, 113; rejection of self-refuting, 119–20; reliability of, 105, 236–7; revisability of, 143, 236; use in moral philosophy, 151–2
- intuitionism, xxiv, 6, 9–11, 231–5; as common sense view, 246; compatible with moral reasoning, 106, 109, 145; compatible with revisability, 236; does not entail that all beliefs are justified, 109–10; epistemological thesis, 10; fall from favor, 240–2, 245–8; as form of direct realism, 121–2; as form of dualism, 7–8, 183; importance of, 248–50; metaphysical thesis, 10; not subjectivist, 210–11; as revisionary, 219–23; semantic thesis, 9–10; thesis about practical reasons, 10, 183, 223
- Iraq war, xxii, 26–7
- irreducibility and supervenience, 207–8
- is-ought gap, 72–83; and problem of moral knowledge, 74; Karmo's proof, 79–83
- Islam, 55–6, 244
- Jackson, Frank, 207–8, 257n10, 272n1, 279n1, 281n22
- Jefferson, Thomas, 242
- Joyce, Richard, 269n34, 272n1, 274n30, 278n49, 282n34, 284n6
- justification, connection to truth, 118; degrees of, 115; of evaluative beliefs, 10; observer-relative, 211; and probability, 277n35
- Kant, Immanuel, 275n4
- Karmo, Toomas, 79–83
- kin selection, 214
- knowledge, analysis of, 69–70, 201, 271n52; requires non-accidental correspondence, 122–3
- Koran, 55–6
- LaughLab, 282n32
- Lavoisier, Antoine, 89, 91
- law of excluded middle, 264n25
- Layman, C. Stephen, 261n15, 274n23
- legislating morality, xxiii
- Lemos, Noah, 267n12, 271n55
- Lewis, David, 11, 258n26
- linguistic evidence, for cognitivism, 20–5; as objective, 19
- Liszka, James Jakób, 272n7
- logic, knowledge of, 113–14; not conventional, 113–15
- logical judgments, 70, 101, 113–14
- logical positivism, 19, 242
- logical properties, 208–9
- Mackie, John, 110–11, 115, 192–3, 199–201, 202
- magnetism of values, 115–16, 156–7; arguments for, 157–61
- Maitzen, Stephen, 81–2, 265n28
- Marquis, Don, 47
- Marxists, 242
- mathematics, as atypical form of knowledge, 251
- Matrix, 112
- maximal natural properties, 281n18, 281n21
- McDowell, John, 275n4
- McGrath, Sarah, 265n31
- McNaughton, David, 280n15
- Mead, Margaret, 135
- meaning, as conventional, 114; and factual-normative worlds, 31–2; learning of, 209–10; and possible worlds, 258n26; and usage, 221. See also cognitivism, non-cognitivism, analytic reductionism
- meaning of life, 248–50
- meat, wrongness of eating, 26, 109–10, 220, 222

- medicine, beliefs about, 135
- memory, source of knowledge, 107, 119
- mental defects, 139
- mental states, irreducibility of, 252; as signs of external facts, 118–19, 121–2; supervenience of, 252
- metaethics, defined, 1; taxonomy of views, 7–9
- metaphysical questions, 1
- metaphysical anti-realism, 12–13
- methodology in ethics, 47, 117; anti-realist approach, 152–4; common approach consistent with intuitionism, 150–2; intuitionist approach, 145, 210–11
- methodology in philosophy, 117, 120, 147
- mind-to-world direction of fit, 168–9
- miscalculation, 132, 138
- misinformation, 138
- misunderstanding, 138
- misuse of words, 221–2
- monism, 7–8
- Moore, G. E., 67–72, 115, 228, 262n1, 262n5, 267n12, 269n36
- Moore, Michael S., 86–7, 92, 262n3, 265n30, 266n37
- moral fallibility, 237, 252; and foundationalism, 106–7; and intuitionism, 105–6, 133–4; as problem for ideal observer theory, 63; as problem for relativism, 52, 227; as problem for subjectivism, 50, 65, 213–14, 227; Timmons' view of, 41–2, 43
- moral knowledge, 6; non-cognitivist view, 29–30; not accounted for by naturalists 229; not empirical, 95–6; queerness of, 110–15. See also intuition, moral observation, moral explanation, is-ought gap
- moral principles, fundamental vs. derivative, 46; as impartial reasons, 163–4; uncontroversial, 130
- moral anti-realism, see anti-realism
- moral observation, 85–7, 229
- moral properties, inertness of, 122
- moral beliefs, see belief; value judgments
- moral sense, 215
- moral reasoning, 106
- moral explanation, 88–90, 229; unifying power of, 92–4
- moral realism, as common sense view, xxiv, 42, 240, 257n9; defined, 4; intuitiveness of, 200; political incorrectness of, 243–4; two forms of, 5–7
- moral error, see moral fallibility
- moral claims, descriptive component of, 26–8
- morality, and evolutionary benefits, 218–19; function of, anti-realist theories, 192–3; as taking account of interests fairly, 218
- morally neutral properties, 58
- morally significant properties, 58
- mosquitos, 5
- motivating reasons, 155; connected with normative, 157–61, 192. See also Humean conception of reasons; rationalist conception of reasons
- Müller-Lyer illusion, 100
- mysteriousness, 199
- Nagel, Thomas, 270n44, 275n4, 276n13, 277n30, 284n8
- natural properties, 66, 262n1
- natural sympathy, 187
- naturalism, 6, 7–8, 228–30
- Nazi moral statements, 50, 51–2
- necessity, 112, 209; and a priori knowledge, 112; of moral claims, 123; and principles of prima facie rightness, 203
- Nelson, Mark, 269n35, 282n30
- Nero, 21, 45, 46, 226
- Newtonian physics, 203–4
- nihilism, 230; cannot be made false

- by convention, 76; consistent with all non-evaluative facts, 73–4; defined, 4–5, 256n8; as form of eliminativism, 8; implausibility of, 115–17; most forthright form of anti-realism, 249–50; and undertaking of obligations, 75–6
- nominalism, 124, 256n1
- non-naturalism, 183
- non-demonstrative reasoning, 209
- non-cognitivism, 225–6; defined, 4, 17; degenerating into subjectivism, 22–3; as empirical thesis, 18–20; as form of eliminativism, 7–8; and moral disagreement, 148–9; and reinterpretations of language, 38–9
- norm-acceptance, 31
- ‘normal’, as normative term, 61
- normal conditions clauses, 105, 203
- normative reasons, 155, 183; connected with motivating, 157–61, 192; neo-Humean constraints on, 172–3. See also Humean conception of reasons; rationalist conception of reasons
- Nowell-Smith, P. H., 133–4, 142, 274n24
- Nozick, Robert, 271n51, 271n52, 275n11, 282n36
- objective truth, 5
- objective evidence, 19, 25
- objectivism, see moral realism
- objectivity, compatible with disagreement, 131–2; defined, 2–4, 255n5, 259n41; epistemological sense of, 19; and moral motivation, 192–3
- objects of awareness, 121
- observability of moral properties, 85–7, 229
- observation, 86, 265n35
- observational concepts, 84–5
- Odysseus and the Sirens, 173–4, 181–2, 234–5
- Olsson, Erik, 269n37, 277n34
- open question argument, 67–72, 228–9; and begging the question, 69–70; does not refute all analyses, 263n12; and paradox of analysis, 70–1
- Oppy, Graham, 257n10
- organ harvesting example, 103–4, 217, 232, 252
- ‘ought implies can’ principle, 158, 180–1
- oversight, 138
- pain, awareness of, 267n2; badness of, 250
- paradigm cases of wrongness, 130
- paradigmatic natural properties and evaluative properties, 266n46
- paranormal phenomena, beliefs about, 135
- Parfit, Derek, 284n8
- partying student example, 164–5, 172, 175, 181–2, 188, 234–5
- perception, analogous to intuition, 107–11, 119; direct realist view of, 121; independence of beliefs, 104; not impugned by unresolvable disagreements, 142; not impugned by witness unreliability, 143–4
- performatives, 257n11
- perpetual motion machines, 131
- perverse naturalism, 229–30
- Pettit, Philip, 272n1
- Phenomenal Conservatism, 99–101, 146, 232, 236; as presupposition of thought, 101, 232
- philosophy, disagreements in, 141, 147–8; methodology, 117, 120, 147; movements in, 241
- physics, 203–4
- Pigden, Charles, 264n17, 264n18, 264n23
- Pinker, Steven, 282n35
- Plantinga, Alvin, 271n52, 272n60
- Plato, 261n20, 278n41
- pleasure, desire for, 163; and desire-satisfaction, 161–2; ‘physical’, 275n8; sadistic or perverted, 104 political instability, 91

 political correctness, 243–4
 polygamy, 220, 223
 Popper, Karl, 267n11
 positivism, 19, 242
 Posner, Richard, 283n46
 possible worlds, 30, 80, 258n26 practical rationality, see practical reasons; Humean conception of reasons; rationalist conception of reasons practical reasons, 2, 197–8, 233–5; conflicts among, 185; motivating vs. normative, 155–6, 190, 233; motivating, 233–5; normative, 183, 233–5. See also Humean conception of reasons; rationalist conception of reasons prescriptivism, 17–18
 presumption, against nihilism, 115; in favor of intuitive propositions, 105 Prichard, H. A., 106, 267n12, 268n17, 279n55
prima facie rightness, 203–5, 250–1
prima facie justification, 105, 108, 109–10, 146, 209, 232 principle of charity, 159–61, 275n7
 Prior, A. N., 78–9
 probability, 118
 promising, 75–6
 proof, 120, 131
 properties, Timmons’ view of, 40
 propositional attitudes, 20
 propositions, 32
 prudence, 162
 pseudo-questions, 198
 psychological egoism, 163
 Putnam, Hilary, 266n44

 quantum mechanics, 135
 queerness, 110–15, 199–201
 questions, evaluative, 21; requirements for meaningfulness of,

197
 Quine, W. V., 269n32
 Quinn, Philip, 261n13, 261n18
 Quinn, Warren, 279n57

 Rachels, James, 129, 260n3, 263n7, 267n9, 272n1, 282n36
 Rachels, Stuart, 264n16, 265n31, 274n27, 277n33, 280n13, 281n17, 284n7 racism, 54, 62–3 153, 172, 182–3 radical dissimilarity, argument from, 94–5, 229
 Railton, Peter, 262n3, 265n30, 266n48
 Rand, Ayn, 263n13, 280n6
 Rashdall, Hastings, 267n12
 rationalist conception of reasons, 161–6, 181–3; and authority of morality, 184–7; Hume’s argument against, 167–8; Smith’s argument against, 168–71; and weakness of will, 191–2
 rationalistic methodology, 117 rationality, and interpretation, 160; as normative concept, 274n1. See also practical reasons; Humean conception of reasons; rationalist conception of reasons
 rationalizations, 241, 249
 Rawls, John, 269n37, 274n28, 281n29
 realism about universals, 124–5
 realism, see moral realism; metaphysical realism reason, function of, 168
 reasoning, dependent on intuition, 113 reasons, see practical reasons
 reciprocal altruism, 214
 reddish green, 268n30
 reduction, 6, 66, 260n1
 reductionism, 6–8, 66–7, 228–30; analytic, 6, 67–72, 228–9; about color, 66–7; epistemological advantage of, 67; and explanation of actual moral beliefs, 96;

about heat, 83–5, 87; about sound, 83, 94–5; synthetic, 6, 83–94, 228, 229–30; about water, 83–5, 89–90, 94–5 reference, correctness requirement, 95, 130; purported vs. successful, 256n6; and speaker's intentions, 208; and usage, 207–8, 221 reflective equilibrium, 117, 269n38
 Reid, Thomas, 270n46
 relativism, see cultural relativism reliability, of intuitions, 107–8, 134; as requirement for knowledge, 123 religion, as basis for morality, 54; disagreement about, 135; as source of bias, 144–5; unreliability of, 141 reputation effects, 214
 revisability, of moral beliefs, 105–7; of perceptual beliefs, 107
 revisionary ethics, 219–23
 rigidifying move, 53
 Ross, W. D., 250–2, 267n12, 275n4
 rules of inference, evaluative, 264n16
 Ruse, Michael, 192–3, 217, 278n49, 282n34, 282n36
 Russell, Bertrand, 271n55
 Ryan, Sharon, 277n36
 Sabbath, 55
 Samoa, 135
 sanitation engineers, 243
 Satan, 58
 Scanlon, T.M., 183–4, 262n2, 274n35, 276n22, 277n37, 279n57
 schizophrenia, 139
 science, as atypical form of knowledge, 251; contrasted with ethics, 245; disagreements about, 135–6; as revisionary, 219–20
 scientism, 244–5
 Searle, John, 74–6, 257n12, 264n20, 266n47, 276n17
 second law of thermodynamics, 131
 seeming, see appearances selective attention, 138
 self-image, as source of bias, 140
 self-deception, 267n3
 self-evidence, 106
 self-interest, and morality, 186; as source of bias, 140; as source of motivation, 162–3 semantic disputes, 8–9 semantic questions, 1
 sensory experience, 270n42
 sex, 55
 sexiness, subjectivity of, 2, 211, 214
 Sextus Empiricus, 268n25
 Shafer-Landau, Russ, 268n12, 273n18, 276n21 shape, objectivity of, 2
 showing claims to be true, 120
 signs of external facts, 118–19, 121–2
 Singer, Peter, 145, 150, 151–2, 193–4, 274n36, 279n51
 Sinnott-Armstrong, Walter, 268n25, 274n23 skepticism, 12, 107–9, 118–19, 121–2, 232, 236, 252–3, 256n12, 258n12 slavery, 54, 55, 129, 153; selling children into, 163
 Smart, J. J. C., 267n10
 Smith, Michael, 168–71, 176, 182–3, 257n10, 262n1, 272n1, 274n28, 275n3, 276n13, 276n19, 276n21, 277n28
 Smith, Tara, 106, 267n6, 268n15, 268n19, 272n7, 281n28
 social welfare programs, disagreements about, 135
 sociobiology, 214–19, 242
 Socrates, 114
 spirit of the age, 242–5 square pegs and round holes, 92–3
 statue/clay example, 166

Sterling, Grant, 267n12, 268n23, 268n27, 273n20
 Stevenson, Charles L., 256n5
 Stewart, Jon, 5, 255n5
 Strawson, Peter, 203, 205
 stubbornness, 139
 stupidity, 243
 Sturgeon, Nicholas, 90–1, 262n3, 265n30, 266n43
 subjective inversion, 121
 subjectivism, 226–8; analytic, 72; and arbitrariness, 50; and confusion of belief and truth, 64; and confusion of cause of belief and object of belief, 64; defined, 4, 48; as form of reductionism, 49, 7–8; individualist, 49–51; and moral infallibility, 50; and Nazis, 50; not a denial of moral truth, 49; and variability of moral beliefs, 63–4 subjectivist fallacy, 63–5, 227–8 subjectivity, defined, 2 supervenience 280n7; and algorithms, 252; of mental states, 252; of moral properties, 88–9, 202–9 sympathy, 187, 193, 234
 synthetic reductionism, see reductionism taxonomy of metaethical views, 7–9 telepathy, 135

 testability of moral claims, 90–2
 thermodynamics, 131
 thick evaluative terms, 255n1
 Thomson, Judith Jarvis, 47, 109
 Timmons, Mark, 38–44, 257n7, 259n34, 259n35, 265n29, 274n28
 Timmons-properties, 43
Titanic, 22
 Tooley, Michael, 47
 torfness, 87, 93
 tradition, unreliability of, 141
 transparency of experience, 121–2

trolley car example, 103–4, 217, 252 truth, 242, 250; applied to evaluative claims, 20, 26–30; correspondence theory of, 39, 42; endorsement theory of, 28, 258n23; and function of reason, 168; redundancy theory of, 28–9; Timmons' view of, 40
 Tye, Michael, 270n46

 unarticulated assumptions, 138–9 unbelievers, 56
 understanding, of concepts, 229; of universals, 125–6 undertaking obligations, 75–6
 unfalsifiability, 217–18
 Unger, Peter, 274n36
 universalizability, 18
 universals, 124–5
 unobservability of moral properties, 85–7, 229
 unprovable knowledge, 251
 unverifiability of ethical claims, 19 usage and meaning, 207–8, 221
 utilitarianism, 27, 103, 129, 232–3, 251

 validity, 101
 Vallentyne, Peter, 260n8
 value systems, 80
 value judgements, and claim to correctness, 250; conflicting with desires, 190; degree of confidence distinguished from degree of rightness/wrongness, 46; dispassionate, 46–7; as genuine beliefs, 44–7; incommensurability with desires, 191; motivating force of, 167; not explained by reductionism, 96; as reasons for action, 196, 233; and strength of emotions, 45–6
 van Inwagen, Peter, 244
 Van Roojen, Mark, 259n29
 vehicles of awareness, 121

verifiability of ethical claims, 19, 108-9
Von Mises, Ludwig, 275n9

war, 55
Washington, George, 242
water, 83-5, 89-90, 94-5
weakness of will, 188-92, 195, 233-4, 249
Weatherson, Brian, 263n9
weirdness, 110-15, 199-201, 239-40, 241
why be moral, 194, 196-8
why be rational, 196-7
why satisfy desires, 197-8
Williams, Bernard, 173

Wilson, Edward O., 282n34
wishful thinking, 140
wishing, 20
witness reliability, 110, 143, 273n22
wondering, 20, 37
world-to-mind direction of fit, 168-9, 176-7
Wright, Crispin, 259n44
Wright, Robert, 282n33
wrong-making features, 207
wrongness, features of, 223

young Earth theory, 141, 273n17

Zaibert, Leo, 264n20

through a kind of immediate, intellectual awareness, or 'intuition'; and (iii) our knowledge of moral truths gives us reasons for action independent of our desires. The author confronts the major objections to this theory, arguing that contrary to what has often been assumed, the theory does have the resources to explain moral disagreements and to offer a reasonable approach to resolving some of them. The major alternative theories, including subjectivism, nihilism, and reductionism, are shown to face decisive objections.

Michael Huemer received his Ph.D. from Rutgers University in 1998 and is presently Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of Colorado at Boulder, USA. He is the author of Skepticism and the Veil of Perception as well as more than twenty articles in epistemology, ethics, and other areas of philosophy

ISBN 978-0-230-57374-1

9 780230 573741